Foreword

The vision of the Jersey Audit Office is to be a trusted and innovative audit organisation that champions good governance and the wise use of public money in Jersey.

Independent external audit is an important part of the process of accountability for public money. It provides assurance on the stewardship of public funds and on corporate governance. It also does more. It looks forward as well as back. It serves as a driver for improvement in decision making and service delivery. It helps to provide transparency for the public sector.

Audit is not a substitute for the responsibilities of those providing public services. It is for them to ensure that public business is conducted in accordance with the law and proper standards, that public money is safeguarded, that public funds are properly accounted for and that economy, efficiency and effectiveness are secured.

The Jersey Audit Office is led by the Comptroller and Auditor General (C&AG) whose duties derive from the Comptroller and Auditor General (Jersey) Law 2014 (the 2014 Law). This Code of Audit Practice (the Code) discharges the responsibility of the C&AG under Article 18 of the 2014 Law to prepare and publish a statement of the manner in which the C&AG proposes to discharge their functions. Whereas the legislation sets out what my audit work should achieve, the Code sets out how the work should be undertaken.

The Code is an important means by which States members, Ministers, Officers of the States, other stakeholders and the public of Jersey can secure a common understanding of what the C&AG and audit firms appointed by the C&AG shall do, what they shall not do, how they shall operate and how they shall interact.

Since 2023 (when the last Code was published) there have been a number of developments. These include:

- the States Assembly approving an update to the 2014 Law in March 2026
- new requirements placed on certain entities to consult with the C&AG before the appointment of auditors; and

- updates to published best practice including the standards issued by the Financial Reporting Council (FRC) and the standards and principles published by the International Organization of Supreme Audit Institutions (INTOSAI).

This version of the Code comes into effect for the audit of financial statements for the year ended 31 December 2026 and in all other respects from 1 January 2027. As required by Article 18 of the 2014 Law, the Code will continue to be reviewed and updated on a regular basis.

Lynn Pamment CBE
Comptroller and Auditor General

[DATE]

Section 1: Introduction

1. Legislation prescribes what the C&AG and audit firms appointed by the C&AG shall and may do. This Code both explains those duties and powers and sets out how those functions should be performed.
2. The duties and powers of the C&AG and audit firms appointed by the C&AG relate to a number of entities specified in legislation:
 - the States of Jersey, including States funded bodies and specified Funds
 - independently audited States bodies, being entities to which the C&AG is required to appoint auditors of their financial statements and companies owned or controlled by the States; and
 - States aided independent bodies, being entities that receive money from the States to aid them in carrying out their activities.
3. A summary of the statutory powers and duties is provided at Appendix 1.
4. This Code is issued under Article 18 of the 2014 Law. It comes into force:
 - in the case of the C&AG, on the date it is issued; and
 - in the case of auditors appointed by the C&AG, at the commencement of the audit of financial statements for the year ending 31 December 2026.
5. The Code remains in force until revised or replaced.
6. The Code is at the centre of arrangements for public audit in Jersey (see Exhibit 1).

Exhibit 1: The Code sits at the centre of arrangements for public audit in Jersey

Application of this Code and Supplementary Guidance

7. This Code applies to the C&AG and to auditors of the financial statements of the States of Jersey and other entities to which the C&AG appoints auditors.
8. The C&AG may issue supplementary guidance to auditors of the financial statements of the States of Jersey and other entities to which the C&AG appoints auditors. This supplementary guidance is designed to facilitate compliance with this Code and may include guidance on emerging issues relevant to the functions of auditors appointed by the C&AG. Appendix 2 contains a list of the entities to which the C&AG appoints auditors of financial statements.

9. Auditors of the financial statements appointed by the C&AG shall have regard to the supplementary guidance issued by the C&AG.
10. The C&AG shall review the supplementary guidance issued on a regular basis and amend, augment or withdraw the supplementary guidance as appropriate.

 - work on corporate governance, internal control and economy, efficiency and effectiveness (Section 4)
 - follow up of previous external audit recommendations (Section 5)

Section 2: General principles

Background

12. The purpose of the Jersey Audit Office is to provide independent assurance to the people of Jersey on the extent to which public money is spent economically, efficiently and effectively and on whether the controls and governance arrangements in place within public bodies demonstrate value for money.
13. The Jersey Audit Office operates to the following fundamental values:
 - Independence and objectivity – we appoint auditors, determine our work plan, carry out our work and report our findings impartially. We are accessible, transparent and responsive. We drive constructive and positive change through our recommendations and follow-up. We respond with agility to the ever changing environment in which we operate.
 - Fairness and justice – we are open and honest in the way we undertake our work, how we communicate with all stakeholders and how we treat people. We report our evidence-based findings in public, without fear or favour. We undertake audit work as economically, efficiently and effectively as possible.
 - Integrity – we speak up for what is right. We strive for and deliver high quality outcomes. We are truthful in making decisions and in responding to challenge. We meet our responsibilities in an ethical and fair way.
 - Credibility – we provide insight and promote best practice. We engage proactively with our stakeholders, with whom we work hard to build and maintain trust. Our work follows best practice and is undertaken by a team of reliable and dedicated professionals in accordance with recognised international standards.
14. We communicate with stakeholders in all aspects of our work. In doing so ensure that such communication does not compromise the independence and impartiality of the Jersey Audit Office.

15. Independent public assurance helps to maintain public confidence in the stewardship of public funds and the delivery of public services.
16. It is underpinned by the following widely accepted principles of public audit:
 - independent appointment of auditors
 - a wider scope of public audit
 - public reporting of audit findings and recommendations; and
 - being responsive to changing environments and audit risks.
17. Credible public audit is also underpinned by arrangements to secure and report on audit quality.

Independent appointment of auditors

18. A fundamental principle of public audit is independent appointment of auditors.
19. The independence of the C&AG is protected by appointment by the States Assembly on a recommendation jointly by the Chief Minister and Chair of the Public Accounts Committee for a fixed, non-renewable seven year term. They may only be removed from office on specified grounds.
20. Before recommending to the States the appointment of a person to the office of C&AG, the Chief Minister and the Chair of the Public Accounts Committee must take into account the views and recommendations of the Jersey Audit Office Board of Governance and the Jersey Appointments Commission.
21. Auditors of financial statements are appointed by the C&AG following transparent procurement processes. There are additional controls over the acceptance of non-audit work to ensure there is no threat to the independence of the auditors. These are set out in the sub-section on Auditors appointed by the C&AG in Section 8 of the Code.

22. Under the agreed Memoranda of Understanding between the Minister for Treasury and Resources and certain States owned entities there are requirements for those entities to consult with the C&AG in advance of the Guarantor being asked to approve the appointment of nominated new auditors following a tendering exercise.
23. Certain other entities are also required to consult with the C&AG in advance of the appointment of auditors of financial statements following a tendering exercise.

Wider scope of public audit

24. Public audit has a wider scope, extending beyond the truth and fairness of financial statements. In Jersey this means that:
 - for the States of Jersey, assurance is provided about the 'regularity' of income and expenditure; and
 - the C&AG's work extends to corporate governance, internal control and value for money, not only of the States of Jersey but also of some other public bodies and bodies funded by the States.
25. The Code also provides for the C&AG to follow up the implementation of audit recommendations.
26. Public audit does not question the merits of policy objectives. However, the C&AG may subsequently consider how policy decisions were reached and the effects of the implementation of policies.
27. The principle of proportionality requires that a measure taken by a public authority must be no more than is necessary to achieve a legitimate aim and must strike a fair balance between the public interest and the rights or interests of the individual or entity. The principle of proportionality is embedded throughout the Code.

28. In determining the scope and nature of work undertaken, the C&AG shall have regard to the cost of undertaking such work, the benefits expected to arise and the principle of proportionality.

Public reporting of audit findings and recommendations

29. Accountability is promoted by public reporting of audit findings and recommendations. The C&AG reports in public to the States Assembly without fear or favour.
30. In discharging their statutory and professional responsibilities, auditors shall adopt a constructive and positive approach, supporting and encouraging worthwhile change. In undertaking their work and making recommendations they recognise the particular circumstances of Jersey.
31. In making recommendations auditors recognise both the benefits and the cost of implementation as well as the principle of proportionality.
32. Principles underpinning effective reporting by the C&AG and auditors appointed by the C&AG are set out in Section 6.

Being responsive to changing environments and audit risks

33. To remain relevant and credible and to support improvement, public audit must be responsive to changes in public service delivery.
34. The Code sets out a high-level approach to how the C&AG and the auditors appointed by the C&AG shall discharge their responsibilities. However, the C&AG develops, reviews and amends an audit programme in light of changes to service delivery and emerging risks.
35. The C&AG is also required to keep this Code under review and, where appropriate, update it.

Audit quality

36. To maintain credibility, public audit must be undertaken:
- to high professional standards
 - as efficiently as possible; and
 - in compliance with statutory requirements, including on information handling.
37. To ensure the quality of audit work undertaken, the C&AG has adopted a System of Quality Management covering the work undertaken by the C&AG and the auditors appointed by the C&AG. The System of Quality Management is included at Appendix 4.

Section 3: Work on the financial statements

Background

38. Financial statements are an essential means by which stewardship of public funds is demonstrated.
39. Legislation requires the C&AG to appoint auditors of the financial statements of:
 - the States of Jersey; and
 - certain other entities as detailed in Appendix 2 to this Code.
40. Certain other entities as detailed in Appendix 3 to this Code are required under Memoranda of Understanding or other agreements with the States of Jersey to consult with the C&AG in advance of the appointment of auditors of financial statements following a tendering exercise.

Responsibilities of preparers of financial statements

41. The preparers of these financial statements have a duty to:
 - put in place systems of internal financial control, including to ensure the regularity and lawfulness of transactions
 - maintain proper accounting records and working papers that have been prepared to an acceptable professional standard and that support their financial statements
 - prepare financial statements on a timely basis in accordance with the applicable accounting framework; and

- where required to do so, prepare and publish an annual report alongside their financial statements.

42. In the case of the States of Jersey, the States must:

- as required by Article 31(3) of the Public Finances (Jersey) Law 2019, prepare the financial statements in accordance with the accounting standards directed by the Minister for Treasury and Resources in the Public Finances Manual; and
- as required by the Public Finances Manual issued under Article 31 of the Public Finances (Jersey) Law 2019, prepare a Governance Statement.

Auditors appointed by the C&AG

Appointment

43. In exercise of the statutory provisions detailed in Appendix 2 to this Code, the C&AG appoints auditors to audit the financial statements of the States of Jersey and certain other entities.
44. The C&AG shall appoint auditors to undertake the audit of financial statements:
- following a transparent procurement process undertaken by the C&AG; or
 - where the C&AG considers it to be appropriate, following a transparent procurement process undertaken by the entity in question.
45. The C&AG shall attach such conditions relating to appointments as they determine.

Non-audit work

46. There are threats to integrity and objectivity where auditors provide other services to the States of Jersey, a States funded body, a body controlled by the States of Jersey or a body to which the C&AG appoints the auditor.
47. Auditors appointed by the C&AG shall:
- seek the consent of the C&AG prior to the provision of non-audit services to the States of Jersey, a States funded body, a body controlled by the States of Jersey or a body to which the C&AG appoints the auditor; and
 - provide such information as the C&AG may require in order to allow them to determine whether to consent to any request to provide non-audit services.
48. In deciding whether to consent to auditors appointed by the C&AG undertaking non-audit work, the C&AG shall consider in particular the potential for an actual or perceived threat to the independence of the C&AG, including the potential for the subsequent review by the C&AG of work undertaken by the auditor.

Responsibilities of all auditors appointed by the C&AG

49. Auditors appointed by the C&AG are required to audit the financial statements and give their opinion, including:
- whether the financial statements give a true and fair view of the financial position of the reporting entity and of its income and expenditure for the year
 - whether the financial statements have been properly prepared in accordance with the relevant accounting framework
 - whether other information published together with the audited financial statements is consistent with the financial statements; and

- where a Remuneration Report is prepared, whether the part to be audited has been properly prepared in accordance with the relevant accounting and reporting framework.
50. In planning, performing and reporting their work, auditors appointed by the C&AG shall:
- comply with ethical, auditing and quality management standards applicable in the United Kingdom currently issued by the Financial Reporting Council (the FRC). In complying with the Ethical Standard issued by the FRC, auditors appointed by the C&AG shall not apply the alternative provisions available for auditors of small entities
 - ensure that all audit team members comply with the International Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (published by the International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants) as adapted by a relevant professional body such as the Institute of Chartered Accountants in England and Wales; and
 - have regard to associated guidance, in particular:
 - Part 1: Application of International Standards on Auditing (UK) of Practice Note 10: Audit of financial statements and regularity of public sector bodies in the United Kingdom issued by the Public Audit Forum; and
 - where relevant, Practice Note 15: The audit of occupational pension schemes in the United Kingdom issued by the FRC.
51. Auditors appointed by the C&AG shall, to the extent that is consistent with their statutory and professional powers and duties:
- liaise with the C&AG in the course of their work
 - provide to the C&AG such information as the C&AG requests for the purposes of the C&AG's functions, including providing in confidence the results and supporting documentation in respect of engagement quality reviews performed in accordance with quality management standards; and

- co-operate constructively with other auditors appointed by the C&AG to discharge their respective responsibilities.
52. Auditors appointed by the C&AG shall engage constructively with the preparers of financial statements to promote high quality, impactful financial reporting.

In planning, performing and reporting their work, the auditor of the financial statements of the States of Jersey shall apply the provisions of relevant ethical, quality management and auditing standards applicable to Public Interest Entities with such interpretations and modifications necessary as specified by the C&AG in supplementary guidance issued in accordance with paragraph 8 of this Code.

55. The auditor appointed to audit the financial statements of the States of Jersey shall also in their Independent Auditor's Report give an opinion on whether:

 - the income and expenditure relating to the States of Jersey Core Entities have been applied to the purposes intended by the States Assembly and the financial transactions conform to the authorities which govern them.
56. In planning, performing and reporting their work to support this opinion, the auditor appointed to audit the financial statements of the States of Jersey shall:

Section 4: Work on corporate governance, internal control and economy, efficiency and effectiveness

Background

65. Article 11(3) of the 2014 Law imposes a duty on the C&AG to consider and report to the States Assembly in relation to the States of Jersey, States funded bodies, the Social Security Fund, the Social Security (Reserve) Fund, the Health Insurance Fund and the Long-Term Care Fund on:
- general corporate governance arrangements
 - the effectiveness of the internal controls, including internal auditing of those controls; and
 - economy, efficiency and effectiveness in the use of resources.
66. Articles 13(1) and 14(3) of the 2014 Law allow the C&AG to report in relation to these three matters in respect of independently audited States bodies and States aided independent bodies.

Responsibilities of the States of Jersey, independently audited States bodies and States aided independent bodies

67. The States of Jersey, independently audited States bodies and States aided independent bodies are required to:

- In respect of corporate governance: establish arrangements to ensure the proper conduct of their affairs including the legality of activities and transactions, and for monitoring the adequacy and effectiveness of these arrangements. They should involve Those Charged with Governance (including audit committees or equivalent) in monitoring these arrangements.
- In respect of internal control: develop and implement effective systems of internal control, including financial, operational and compliance controls. These systems should support the achievement of their objectives and safeguard and secure value for money from the public funds at their disposal. They shall include:
 - effective risk management and, where appropriate, internal audit functions
 - arrangements for the prevention and detection of fraud, error and irregularities, bribery and corruption and to ensure that their affairs are managed in accordance with proper standards of conduct by putting proper arrangements in place; and
 - arrangements to ensure that their financial position is soundly based having regard to compliance with statutory financial requirements, achievement of financial targets, adequacy of balances and reserves, dealing with uncertainty in the medium- and long-term and the impact of planned policies and foreseeable developments.
- In respect of economy, efficiency and effectiveness: establish arrangements to secure economy (minimisation of the costs of inputs), efficiency (maximising the outputs from the inputs) and effectiveness (maximising the alignment between the outputs and the outcomes desired).

Responsibilities of the C&AG

General

68. The C&AG shall ensure that in planning, performing and reporting work on corporate governance, internal control and economy, efficiency and effectiveness, INTOSAI principles and standards in respect of performance audit are met.
69. The C&AG shall plan their work so that in each year they undertake one or more elements of work specifically to consider each of corporate governance, internal control and economy, efficiency and effectiveness.
70. The elements of work undertaken may relate to one or more activities and one or more entities within the scope of the C&AG's responsibilities. Elements of work may contribute to the discharge of one or more of the C&AG's responsibilities.
71. In discharging their responsibilities, the C&AG shall also consider any relevant findings from the audit of financial statements.
72. While the C&AG's work is designed to identify major weaknesses in corporate governance or internal control, or significant failures to secure economy, efficiency and effectiveness, it should not be relied upon to identify all weaknesses or failures that exist.

Planning of work

73. The C&AG shall prepare an annual plan to discharge their responsibilities in respect of corporate governance, internal control and economy, efficiency and effectiveness. The plan shall include a work programme for the calendar year and an indicative work programme for the subsequent three years.
74. In preparing their plan the C&AG shall seek to:
 - consider all significant activities and entities relevant to their responsibilities on a cyclical basis; and

- maximise the impact of their work by focussing on the areas of greatest risk.
75. In determining what work to include in their plan the C&AG shall have regard to:
- applicable professional standards, in particular INTOSAI principles and standards
 - the public interest
 - the views of the public and its representatives
 - whether the work is timely and proportionate
 - the scale of the issues and their circumstances
 - the effectiveness of internal audit and the scope, nature and timing of internal audit's work
 - scope, nature, timing and results of the work of others, including the Public Accounts Committee and Scrutiny Panels, inspectorates and other authoritative external bodies
 - the risk of financial impropriety, fraud and corruption; and
 - the potential value of the work in terms of monetary savings, improved services and improved management or governance, and whether the lessons learned are likely to be transferable.
76. The C&AG shall keep under review and amend their planned programme of work as necessary and shall demonstrate a willingness to innovate in the approaches being adopted.

Undertaking work

77. In undertaking work to discharge their responsibilities the C&AG shall:
- consult on, and specify clearly, the objectives and scope of their work, including the audit criteria to be adopted in the work

- obtain sufficient appropriate evidence from which to draw conclusions based on independent professional judgement, the application of the concept of materiality and sound and robust analysis
 - apply professional scepticism and due care in undertaking the work, considering issues from different perspectives and maintaining an open and objective attitude to various views and arguments; and
 - prepare and retain appropriate documentation of the work performed and of the conclusions reached to enable an experienced auditor, having no previous connection with the audit, to understand:
 - the nature, timing and extent of audit procedures performed
 - the results of the audit procedures and evidence obtained
 - the significant matters arising
 - the conclusions reached; and
 - the recommendations made.
78. Materiality is the relative importance (or significance) of a matter within its context. As well as monetary value, it also includes social and political significance, compliance, transparency, governance and accountability.
79. The inherent characteristics of an item may make it material. Alternatively, a matter might be material because of the context in which it occurs. Materiality affects decisions concerning the nature, timing and extent of audit procedures and the evaluation of audit results. In determining whether a matter is material considerations may include stakeholder concerns, public interest, regulatory requirements and consequences for society.

Reporting the results of work

80. Article 20 of the 2014 Law makes provision about reporting work undertaken. The C&AG must:
- prepare reports arising from the work undertaken. Such reports must mention any matter of concern or any matter that should receive attention

- submit any report to the Greffier of the States (who shall lay the report before the States Assembly); and
- as soon as practicable, report any suspected substantial irregularity where they suspect criminal activity to the Attorney General.

81. In discharging their responsibilities the C&AG shall:

- in determining the content and timing of public reporting, have regard to potential prejudice to the interests of the States of Jersey or other parties arising from public reporting
- specify the professional standards that have been followed in the work that has been undertaken
- other than in cases of suspected irregularity where they suspect criminal activity, consult with relevant Officers on the factual accuracy of draft reports
- seek to issue reports that are comprehensive, convincing, timely, reader-friendly and balanced; and
- publish on their website all reports submitted to the Greffier of the States.

Section 5: Follow-up of previous audit recommendations

Background

82. Article 11(3) of the 2014 Law requires, and Articles 13(1) and 14(3) permit, the C&AG to make recommendations for improvement where such improvement is needed. The C&AG is not responsible for deciding whether to implement external audit recommendations or for their implementation.

Responsibilities of States of Jersey, other entities and States aided independent bodies

83. The States of Jersey, independently audited States bodies and States aided independent bodies have a duty to:
- consider recommendations made by the C&AG and auditors appointed by the C&AG
 - determine whether to accept recommendations and, if so, what action to take
 - monitor implementation of agreed audit recommendations and the impact secured; and
 - take corrective action where appropriate.

Responsibilities of the C&AG

84. The C&AG shall, as part of their annual programme:

- assess the adequacy of arrangements for considering their recommendations and those of audit firms they appoint and, where it is decided to accept recommendations, the arrangements for monitoring their implementation
- on a sample basis, evaluate the implementation and/or impact of previous recommendations made by them or audit firms they appoint; and
- report the results of their work.

DRAFT

General principles

85. Audit outputs shall:

- be clear, succinct, impactful and relevant to their audience
- be written in plain language, avoiding jargon and technical terms where possible; and
- draw clear conclusions and, where relevant, make recommendations to support meaningful improvement.

Timing of reporting

86. The C&AG shall report independently, without fear or favour and on a timely basis. They shall comply with statutory duties to report by a specified date or without delay. They shall report forthwith if they believe it is in the public interest to do so.
87. However, the C&AG shall have regard to impending elections and appointment of Ministers in determining the timing of reporting of the results of their work.

108. The C&AG may possess expertise and insight relevant to the functions of Scrutiny Panels. Where requested by a Panel, the C&AG shall consider whether to provide evidence to a Panel where if, in their opinion, doing so would assist the Panel and not compromise the discharge of their functions.

System of Quality Management

Introduction

1. The C&AG operates a System of Quality Management to secure audit quality across all their work and that of the auditors they appoint. The operation of this System provides reasonable assurance that the processes operated by the Jersey Audit Office are in accordance with INTOSAI principles and standards and applicable legal and regulatory requirements.
2. The International Auditing and Assurance Standards Board (IAASB) states that: "Audit quality encompasses the key elements that create an environment which maximises the likelihood that quality audits are performed on a consistent basis." The IAASB further explains: "A quality audit is likely to have been achieved by an audit team that:
 - exhibited appropriate values, ethics and attitudes
 - was sufficiently knowledgeable, skilled and experienced, and had sufficient time allocated to perform the audit work
 - applied rigorous audit processes and quality control procedures that complied with law, regulation and applicable standards
 - provided useful and timely reports
 - interacted appropriately with relevant stakeholders."

Quality objectives

3. Adopting this definition and scope of audit quality, the C&AG has established the following core quality objectives:
 - Governance and leadership – the C&AG is responsible for and accountable for the quality of the work undertaken by the Jersey Audit Office and is responsible for monitoring the quality of the work undertaken by the auditors they appoint.

- Ethical requirements – the C&AG, Deputy Comptroller and Auditor General and affiliates working for the Jersey Audit Office understand and fulfil their responsibilities in relation to the relevant legal and ethical requirements, including those related to independence.
- Acceptance, initiation and continuance of engagements – the C&AG will accept, initiate, and continue audits only if they:
 - comply with relevant standards, applicable legal and regulatory requirements, and ethical requirements
 - fall within the legal mandate or authority of the Jersey Audit Office; and
 - the Jersey Audit Office and or the auditors appointed by the C&AG have the capabilities, time and resources to do so.
- Performing engagements – engagement teams understand and fulfil their responsibilities in accordance with relevant professional standards, including this Code of Audit Practice.
- Resources – personnel undertaking audits have the competence and capabilities to perform engagements of a consistently high quality. Appropriate technological resources are used to enable the operation of the audit quality framework and the performance of engagements. Appropriate intellectual resources (including methodologies, guides and standardised documentation) are used to enable the operation of the quality framework and the consistent performance of high quality engagements.
- Information and communication - relevant and reliable information about the system of quality management and the operation of the audit is communicated to stakeholders and other external parties.

Risks

4. The Risk Management Framework for the Jersey Audit Office is set out below. All members of the Jersey Audit Office Board of Governance and the Jersey

Audit Office team contribute to the identification, review and management of risk, including quality risks.

5. Risks are assessed and evaluated based on the likelihood and impact of risks occurring and the mitigating arrangements in place. Further mitigations are planned where the level of risk is outside the level of risk tolerance identified for each area. The risk register is reviewed at each meeting of the Board of Governance.

Elements of the System of Quality Management

6. The System of Quality Management is underpinned by three lines of defence.

First	Second	Third
Individuals and teams with the competencies, capabilities and commitment to ethical principles necessary for compliance with relevant standards	Organisation-wide arrangements for quality control	Independent audit assurance activity

Individuals and teams with the competencies, capabilities and commitment to ethical principles necessary for compliance with relevant standards

7. In relation to the Jersey Audit Office, the C&AG:
 - engages a Deputy Comptroller and Auditor General and affiliates following procurement processes that assess their competencies, capabilities and commitment to ethical principles necessary for compliance with INTOSAI principles and standards
 - complies, and requires the Deputy Comptroller and Auditor General and affiliates to comply, with ISSAI 130, Code of Ethics and the Jersey Audit Office Code of Conduct
 - requires, where relevant, the Deputy Comptroller and Auditor General and affiliates to hold a practising certificate from their professional institute
 - puts in place a professional development strategy and facilitates training for themselves, the Deputy Comptroller and Auditor General and affiliates relevant to the work of the C&AG; and
 - ensures that they, the Deputy Comptroller and Auditor General and affiliates only undertake work that they are competent to perform.
8. In relation to the auditors appointed to undertake the audit of the financial statements of the States of Jersey and auditors appointed by the C&AG to other entities, the C&AG:

- follows procurement processes that evaluate, among other things, whether the appointed auditor and the audit team have sufficient personnel with the competencies, capabilities, and commitment to ethical principles necessary for compliance with relevant ethical, quality management and auditing standards
- requires the appointed auditor and members of the audit team to comply with relevant ethical standards including:
 - the FRC ethical standard; and
 - for audit team members who are professional accountants, the International Code of Ethics for Professional Accountants (published by The International Ethics Standards Board for Accountants) as adapted by their relevant professional body; and
- where appropriate, requires prior approval of changes in key members of the audit teams.

Organisation-wide arrangements for quality control

9. The C&AG establishes appropriate arrangements for securing the quality of audit work in line with INTOSAI principles and standards and monitors the implementation of those arrangements.
10. ISSAI 100 – Fundamental Principles of Public-Sector Auditing provides that the C&AG should design, implement and operate a system of quality management to provide reasonable assurance that the Jersey Audit Office carries out all audits and other engagements at a consistently high level of quality and in accordance with the ISSAIs, or other relevant standards and applicable legal and regulatory requirements.
11. The system of quality management addresses the following interconnected components in a continual and iterative manner:
 - risk assessment process
 - governance and leadership
 - relevant ethical requirements

- acceptance, initiation, and continuance of engagements
 - performing engagements
 - resources
 - information and communication; and
 - monitoring and remediation process.
12. In relation to work carried out by the C&AG, the Deputy Comptroller and Auditor General and affiliates of the Jersey Audit Office, the arrangements for securing the quality of audit work include:
- publishing and monitoring compliance with a Code of Conduct that sets out how to interpret and apply ISSAI 130, Code of Ethics
 - a system of annual declaration of independence
 - assigning and defining responsibilities for quality and quality management of individual audits
 - establishing and implementing a consistent approach for planning, performing and reporting work on corporate governance, internal control and economy, efficiency and effectiveness that complies with INTOSAI principles and standards in respect of performance audit
 - appropriate arrangements for peer review of work undertaken and judgements made; and
 - seeking feedback from the bodies to which audit work relates on the quality of work undertaken.
13. The arrangements are intended to ensure that all requirements are met with emphasis on appropriate, balanced, and fair audit reports that add value, meet the audit objectives and scope and make assessments against agreed criteria.
14. In relation to the auditors appointed to undertake the audit of the financial statements of the States of Jersey and other entities, the C&AG:

- evaluates organisational arrangements for ensuring compliance with relevant ethical, quality management and auditing standards prior to making an appointment and annually during the audit appointment
- requires annual confirmation that the appointed auditor and other members of the audit team continue to comply with relevant ethical standards
- adapts the approach to oversight of the work of auditors in light of their assessment of risk to audit quality; and
- reserves the right to terminate the appointment of an auditor at any time.

Independent audit assurance activity

15. The C&AG shall, periodically, submit the Jersey Audit Office's operations to independent review, including peer review. The detailed findings from such independent reviews shall be reported to the Board of Governance and a summary of the findings shall be included in the Annual Report or in a separate Audit Quality Transparency Report.
16. In relation to auditors of financial statements appointed by the C&AG, the C&AG:
 - requires auditors to provide information annually about the operation of their arrangements for quality control, including breaches and weaknesses identified and corrective action
 - seeks feedback annually from management and Those Charged with Governance of the entities to which the C&AG appoints auditors about the quality of audit work undertaken; and
 - may review, or appoint a person or persons to review, the quality of audit work undertaken, including through review of audit working papers.

Reporting

17. The C&AG includes within their Annual Report or in a separate Audit Quality Transparency Report:
 - a summary of their activities to secure audit quality for their own work and that of the auditors of financial statements that they appoint
 - a summary of the outcomes of those activities; and
 - details of any actions being taken or planned to improve audit quality.
18. The C&AG shall evaluate and conclude on the system of quality management on an annual basis. Their evaluation and conclusion shall be included within their Annual Report or in a separate Audit Quality Report.
